

For Immediate Release
August 7, 2006

The dedication and sacrifices our military service members face daily are not only honorable, but heroic. Whether you are for or against the conflicts taking place in the Middle East our families still need all the emotional and financial support we can offer. Whether it be a mother, father, or guardian, the children and families of our brave stood with honor for our country and their heroism does not go unnoticed.

We believe that our freedom and our children's freedoms are forever guaranteed by every member of our Armed Forces those who have served in the past, present and future. Our lives are made even richer than those in other countries because of our military personnel. They offer us freedom. Something that no amount of money can buy. Something so priceless you cannot even purchase it on the market, but sadly may not be noticed until it is gone. Every day we spend handling our daily chores, taking our children to the park, celebrating events with family and friends is another day that others around us grieve. The lives of our fallen service member families are forever changed, their spirits broken and devastated with grief. Although we can never replace what has been lost, we can help to eliminate some of the struggles within these families. We can remember and hold tribute to their memories by helping their families.

Old River Truck Sales, Inc.'s owners, Dee and Lee White have chosen to give back to the well deserving families of our U.S. military by making a contribution that will help families in Mississippi. These funds are held in trust specifically to provide educational assistance for Mississippi families that have been affected by the loss of a parent or spouse who served in the Afghanistan and Iraq wars. Lee will join our Grant Committee during the application and award process by making recommendations to those in need. We are encouraging others in the surrounding communities to help these families with their own contributions made to the Children of Fallen Soldiers Relief Fund.

We can't put a price on freedom and we most certainly cannot put a price on the lives lost to those that have guaranteed our freedoms. We can, however, put our hearts together and help those that grieve for their loved ones by offering them a gift back. Their loved ones guaranteed that we would continue to live our lives as we do, by providing us with the precious gift of freedom. Let's honor them for their dedication and sacrifice for all of us back home. Remember to take the time to thank the young men and women in uniform. They took care of ours, it's time that we take care of theirs. By helping others in our State we can honor the sacrifices of our fallen by remembering them and their families. Their sacrifices enable our families to continue living their lives in freedom and their heroism should be held in the highest esteem.

There have reportedly been thirty-fives lives lost during service in Iraqi and three lives lost during service in Afghanistan who called Mississippi home.
